EASTERN TIME FOR THEATRES, TRAINS

Only Noteworthy Exceptions in Compliance With Day-light Saving.

SEEK WORKING SOLUTION

Face Fact This Is Only Eastern State to Set Clocks an Hour Ahead.

With two exceptions—the railroads and the theatres—all human institutions likely to be affected by the State daylight saving law, which goes into effect next Sunday at 2 A. M., set the public mind at rest yesterday regarding whether they will adapt themselves to the law. They will. The banks, the exchanges and the Federal courts made announcement that they will observe the State timing after Sunday. All kinds and conditions of business will do so as a matter of course.

The theatres and railroads will meet the law in some practical fashion, even if they do not set their clocks ahead of time. By the railroads is meant, of course, those roads which carry a large number of daily commuters and have special suburban schedules. All express trains will keep to Eastern standard time.

The situation confronting the railroads and theatres arises from the fact that this is the only Eastern State which has adopted a daylight saving law, and that large numbers of persons from New Jersey and Connecticut depend on the city for a livelihood and for amusements. Theatrical managers are anxious to sell the continued patronage of such out-of-State residents as have patronized their establishments in the past. The railroads, on the other hand, are anxious to sell the continued patronage of such out-of-State residents as have patronized their establishments in the past.

And so it has been decided by the railroads that they will spend the next day or two in earnest study of the problem, and by Monday will have contrived suburban schedules which will be the railroads' expression of the best they can do for everybody. The theatres will wait and see what the railroads may decide to do.

It was explained yesterday by a representative of the managers' association in this city that by Saturday at latest the New York managers will have made up their minds whether to run their theatres according to daylight saving time, or to keep to Eastern standard time. They are waiting for the railroads to make up their minds.

It was announced yesterday at the offices of the Long Island Railroad that in all probability the road would run its summer schedule according to daylight saving time. This will be decided at a meeting to-day. If the road should decide to set its clocks an hour ahead it will at least make such arrangements in its spring and summer schedules that the convenience of every one using the road will be served.

It is likely that a message from Gov. Edwards of New Jersey to the Legislature of this State to the effect that the confusion in regard to daylight saving which now exists. Gov. Edwards in a message yesterday said that such a message, he passed at once in order to avoid "an extraordinary and inopportune condition." Jersey City adopted a daylight saving ordinance of its own last January. "A 'straw vote' of the State, taken by a daylight saving association, is declared to have shown that sentiment throughout the State is strongly in favor of it.

VISITS COURT HOUSE.

DEMANDS NEW ONE

Hylan Converted to Scheme After Brief Visit.

Mayor Hylan visited the County Court House, located at the City Hall, yesterday and seemed surprised at the interior decorations. He said they were dingy and behind the times and that he was heartily in favor of the proposed new court house.

"The buses are the coming thing in transportation," he explained when he dropped into the reporters' room, "and I intend to back the fight for them with all my energy."

"I intend to take my stand with people who need the support of those in authority," he added, "and who are entitled to it."

MISSING TEACHER

SAID TO BE BRIDE

Mrs. Heffernan, 53, Reported Married to Ex-pupil, 23.

Sought since April, 1918, when she disappeared following the death of her husband, public school teacher of Brooklyn, is said to have been married to one of her former pupils and to have gone to Warren, Ohio.

Mrs. Heffernan, who is 53 years old, is the wife of Russell L. Richardson, 23, a veteran of the war, according to Mrs. A. G. Babcock of 1679 East Twenty-first street, Brooklyn, who declared yesterday that she was acquainted with Mrs. Heffernan's whereabouts.

Charge Involving Association's

Liberty Bonds is Dismissed.

The charge that he was unlawfully withholding from the Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association $14,000 worth of Liberty Bonds and $500 worth of War Savings Stamps, as well as books and records of the organization, which was made recently against Patrick J. O'Sullivan, a retired fireman in the Fire Department, was dismissed yesterday when O'Sullivan was arraigned in Washington Heights Court before Magistrate Joseph M. Schwab.

Magistrate Schwab declared there was nothing to warrant holding him.

SHACKLED PRISONER ESCAPES.

Breaks From U. S. Deputy Marshal

When Leaving Tombs.

While springing the traffic or the crowds momentarily attracted the mind of Richard Murphy, Deputy United States Marshal, who was leading the Federal Court yesterday seized upon the moment to escape. Mr. Murphy, who was wearing a white shirt and a white tie, was seen to break through a crowd of people and to run towards the Tombs.

Mr. Murphy fled several shots into the air and took after Schneider and retrieved him. But Mr. Schneider had vanished. Both were en route from the Tombs for arraignment on charges of pilfering packages from a mail wagon.

PICKPOCKET 'GOT TO JUDGE TOO SOON'

Should Have Waited Until Freschi Cashed Check.

A technical error was committed by a pickpocket who frisked Justice John Freschi of the Court of Special Sessions while on his way to court yesterday morning on the Ninth Avenue Elevated.

Instead of waiting until the Justice had cashed a check he carried with him the stuffy but too eager pickpocket got his wallet in the morning. His gross profit was $1, and his net, after deducting the five cents charged by the I. T. T., only $1.95, a mere nothing in these days of high prices.

MOTOR GANG ROBS 15 HOMES OF $10,000

Liberty Heights Residents Organize Private Searching Parties for Thieves.

Money, jewelry and silverware valued at more than $10,000 were stolen from fifteen homes in the Liberty Heights section of Woodhaven, Queens, between 10:30 o'clock Monday night and 4:30 Tuesday morning. All of the robberies were carried out in the same manner by a gang made up of four persons in a limousine, chief among them a well-dressed young woman, who seems to have selected the houses to be entered. The thieves operated within a radius of half a mile.

So bold were the robberies that many private searching parties have joined forces with the detectives in a wide and thorough hunt. Residents of the neighborhood awake and that besides the fifteen houses which had been entered and robbed, many others had been tried. Piles of clothing, children's banks, empty purses and various other articles were found scattered about the streets.

In one case the robbers got above the first door, and each robbery was committed in the same way. Entrance was gained either by the kitchen window in the rear of the house, the dining room or parlor window. A putty knife and a jimmy were the only instruments used.

According to those who heard and saw the gang, the car was driven by a well-dressed young man who spoke with a Latin accent. In the seat beside him was a snub-nosed man with a cap pulled down over his eyes, while another man sat in the rear seat with the rear seat with the young woman. The party made a leisurely tour of the Liberty Heights section, frequently stopping to ask passersby the way to certain streets.

One of the robbers was seen to be standing in front of his home with his wife watching the robbers. When a limousine drove into Bell place, this was the first appearance of the gang. Mr. Mulder said he noticed the shabby appearance of two of the men as compared with the chauffeur and the young woman. The woman was pointing out various houses along the street, among them his own. When he left his house the next morning he found an attempt had been made to enter it.

Maurice Blum of 1413 New Woodhaven avenue, who lives in the neighborhood, was one of the victims. He was asleep when the robbers entered his home. He was awakened by the sound of the door being opened. He saw the car at Dalrymple and New Woodhaven avenues. The chauffeur asked for directions to 54 Bell place, an address which does not exist. Mr. Blum got a very good look at the occupants. At about 2:30 o'clock E. S. Nelkin of 3447 Freeland avenue was awakened by the crying of his baby. Mr. Nelkin heard another noise and went downstairs, where he found things pretty well messed up and $75 in cash missing, along with jewelry and silverware.

C. F. Storms of 1544 Ocean View avenue, who lives in the neighborhood, was one of the victims. He was sleeping when the robbers entered his home. REVIEW OF REVIEWS

SUED BY MARTENS

Soviet Envoy Asks $1,000,000 for 'Red' Article.

Ludwig C. A. Martens, representative of the Russian Soviet Government in the United States, sued the Review of Reviews for $1,000,000 damages yesterday in a Supreme Court libel action.

The article, which was published in the Review of Reviews, was a review of a book by Mr. Martens, "The Red in America," written by Dunn and published in the Review of Reviews in February. The author declared that Martens, "the self-styled ambassador," maintains an office here "to spread all kinds of propaganda looking to the overthrow of the Government of the United States."

Martens says the statement is false, scandalous and libelous. Charles Rees is his attorney.

Her First Trip Since Resumption of Red Star Service.

The Red Star liner Kroonland, in command of Capt. Charles Newman, her master in wartime, when she dodged submarines transporting American troops, sailed yesterday on her first trip for Antwerp since the resumption of the Red Star service. She carries 175 first class passengers.

Among the saloon voyagers are H. Percival Dodge, American Minister to Jugoslavia, returning to his post; Baron Van Haerle of Belgium; Major Baron Lambert and Horace M. Barzun, formerly secretary to Clemenceau and now of the Atlas News Service.

CANNED TOMATOES GIVE BABIES HEALTH

So Medical Society Hears From Doctor, Who Says the Vegetable Is 'Well Born.'

GREENERY DIET ADVISED

Meat, Bread and Potatoes Have Proved a Failure. Bal-timorean Asserts.

Canned tomatoes, which, so far as a layman's observation goes, have not been regarded heretofore as an ideal food for babies, were recommended at such yesterday by Dr. Alfred P. Hess. He was speaking before the sections on medicine and pediatrics at the annual meeting of the Medical Society of the State of New York in the Waldorf-Astoria.

Remarkings that if infants are fed on pasteurized milk they must also have something to prevent the development of scurvy, Dr. Hess said canned tomatoes as well as the more commonly used orange juice would answer the purpose. He described the tomato as being "well born," and said there was no reason why it could not be given in one ounce portions to babies who have passed their first month. He said also that many babies have latent scorbutic taints because they are not getting their mothers' milk.

Dr. E. V. McCollum of Baltimore told the brethren that as a diet meat, bread and potatoes and even peas and beans have proved a failure. He suggested instead a diet consisting largely of leafy vegetables, such as spinach, cabbage and cauliflower, with a liberal amount of milk. He said he was carrying on an important experiment relating to vitamins, the results of which he hoped to make public soon.

CADEAUX

What Is It That Constitutes a Gentleman?

A sightseer in London for the first time is most likely to be taken early any Sunday morning to Seven Dials, where thousands of ragged people attend auction sales of every conceivable second-hand thing ever made by a machine or a human hand, and the several auctioneers, at different points in huge crowds, always begin their sales by saying "Ladies and Gentlemen."

The whole world pays homage to certain words. Shakespeare, centuries ago, is said to have used the word "gentleman" four hundred and fifty-two times in his works.

One frequently hears a man say that he thinks of giving up business and turning gentleman.

Is it the work a man does that makes or unmakes a gentleman?

It is not so very long ago that Great Britain barred the receiving at Court of any commercial man.

Just exactly What Is Gentleman?

If a man is known by his clothes, the question all turns upon His Majesty the Tailor-smith.

Can putty, paint and varnish make a genuinely good piece of furniture?

Can lands, money and inherited titles, each or all of them, make a real gentleman?

A university may produce a gentlemanized graduate, but it is not a fact that the beginning of a gentleman is within the threadbare, naked child, within the lad when he first arrives?

(Signed) John Wanamaker March 25, 1920.

Au Quatrieme Is More Than a Floor of Antiques

On the invitation of the Kansas City Museum Au Quatrieme is holding an exhibit of French and English furniture, tapestries and old glass in the Fine Arts Museum in the month of May.

Au Quatrieme believes that the educational and cultural centres of the country should make every effort to play the proverbial role of the mountain going to Mohamet when Mohamet can't possibly make the trip; and Au Quatrieme is glad to be used as a Museum of antiques and objects of art for many countries.
